

MILL HILL HOUSE.

Although this term has been very short and cold weather restricted our outdoor activities during the early weeks, it has proved, or rather we hope will prove to be extremely eventful.

We have played three Senior football matches and lost them all by narrow margins, thereby confounding the critics who prophesied overwhelming defeat. Although we lost the services of the Cusack twins at the end of last term our four newcomers have materially aided the team, which should be most successful next season. Middles finished fifth in their table, and Lowers are placed fourth.

The gym. sports are looming large on the horizon, and we hope to do well in all branches of the competition. We now know that we have won our way into the finals. The Cross-Country is also fast approaching, and we hope that our training will not be in vain. The team although light has plenty of stamina, and should do well.

We congratulate K. G. Jarrett on gaining his matriculation exemption last term,—indeed he was placed first in the School. What other brains are we harbouring in our midst? We must also congratulate G. E. Groves on gaining his third-class red cross badge.

A strong military caste has arisen in the House, nine-tenths of which is represented in the J.T.C. or Cadet Corps.

Good luck and all success to those people taking part I of Cert. "A" at the end of this term.

Work has begun on the communal and individual allotments, and much energy is being shown by most members of the House. A good crop should be obtained, fortified as we are by last year's experience.

We provide three parties for School fire-watching and we must thank Matron and Miss Ashwell for providing us with tea at all times. We must also thank them for keeping us so fit during this usually epidemic-ridden term.

Finally, we should like to wish every one a pleasant holiday, and every success in next term's athletic sports.

Post-script:—We now know that we have won the House and Drill Cups in the Gym. Competition. All who took part are to be congratulated.
